

Is it not bad enough that we have to listen to people having loud obnoxious conversations on their cellphones during movies? At least in a movie theater it is possible to move to a different seat. Movie tickets also don't cost $300-1000 and trap you in the theater regardless of how bad it may be. The last thing any sane person needs in their lives is to be forced to listen to a stranger talk about his wife's yeast infection for 2 hours and what she is taking to treat it.
